HIGHWAY PATROL AUTO FATALLY HURTS WOMAN

Bayshore highway was the scene of another fatality shortly before midnight Wednesday when Miss Helen Krsak, 45, employe in the home of Will Tevis, noted polo star of Burlingame, descended from a bus at the Marin avenue intersection in Burlingame, started to cross the highway, became confused and stepped into the path of a speeding state traffic patrol car.

She was struck and carried nearly 130 feet by the right front fender of the patrol car, driven by Officer R. A. Hewitt, 40, San Carlos, and thrown 37 feet more when the car skidded on the soft shoulder of the road. Death was instantaneous.

Was Pursuing Truck

Officer Hewitt, employed in the truck detail of the local traffic bureau, was pursuing a speeding truck southbound and had his official red lights burning when the accident happened. The car was badly damaged, the right fender, right headlight, hood, radiator and radiator shell being bent and the windshield cracked. The officer's report showed that he jammed on his brakes 100 feet before striking the confused woman, who practically stood in the car's path.

Hewitt, a popular member of the San Mateo county squad, was deeply disturbed by the woman's death. He is married and has three children. He has been a traffic officer five years. He came to the peninsula two years ago from Marin county.

Paul Perussina, captain in this county, telephoned E. Raymond Cato at Sacramento, chief of the state patrol, Thursday, and a short while later he and Hewitt were bound for the capital.

Inquest Awaited

Date for the inquest has not been set, but it probably will be next Tuesday, it was said this morning by Frank C. Wyckoff, Burlingame deputy coroner in whose funeral parlors the body lies.

Funeral services will be Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock in St. Catherins' Church, Burlingame. Interment will follow in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Miss Krsak leaves five sisters and three brothers, all San Francisco residents. They are Mrs. Johanna Krsak, Mrs. Sophie Cerethino, Mrs. Henry A. Kopf, Mrs. Fred Martz, Mrs. Theresa Unwin, and Joseph, Vincent and Charles Krsak. She lived at 1222 Oak Grove avenue, Burlingame.

Wednesday's fatality was the second on the Bayshore highway in two days. Tuesday night, Mrs. Anna A. Lonergan of San Bruno was killed when her automobile was struck by a truck, south of Redwood City.

Mrs. J. Rolla Passes Away; Rites Tuesday

Mrs. Mary Rolla, a resident of 627 Harrison street for the past two years, passed away suddenly at Mills Memorial Hospital in San Mateo, Sunday morning. She was a native of San Mateo, and was 23 years of age.

Besides her husband, John Rolla, she is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Celotti, of San Mateo. She is also survived by one sister, Eleanor Celotti, and six brothers, Joe, Victor, Ernest, Albert, Louis, and Angelo Celotti, all of San Mateo. She was the daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Severino Rolla of Redwood City.

The funeral was held Tuesday, August 22, at 9 a. m. from the Layng & Tinney Funeral Home; thence to Mt. Carmel Church, where mass was celebrated at 9:30. Interment was at St. John's Cemetery, San Mateo.

A truck has been secured by the committee and collections will be made in Redwood City, Emerald Lake, Dumbarton Oaks, Fair Oaks, Atherton, Menlo Park, Ravenswood, Runnymede, Woodside and Portola.

Chain Stores Cooperating In NRA Plans

Chain stores are probably the largest employers of labor in the bay area so the facts of their cooperation with NRA are especially significant and partcularly gratifying. An investigation shows that they have quickly and thoroughly organized their full cooperation to the NRA program. For instance:

From figures submitted by Safeway Stores, MacMarr Stores and Piggly Wiggly Stores, it was found that these companies employ regularly approximately 2,000 men and women in the San Francisco bay area, and they add nearly 250 extras every week-end for the heavy Saturday business. In checking their retail employes only, investigation finds that comparing their payroll for the week ending July 29 (before the NRA effective date) with the week ending August 12, that these chain stores' employers have 15.9 per cent more people working now than a week ago. Next week will show another increase according to these operators.

In San Francisco they have increased the number of persons employed by 13.3 per cent in only six days' time. Wages for full time men have for many years been higher than the code requirements.

All of this employment increase was made with not a man discharged because of NRA regulations. In fact the food chain stores have laid off very few men because of the depression even before NRA became operative. Local chain grocery stores are observing the 48-hour week for sales employes as prescribed in the president's code and they are not working short handed. Their rates of pay for retail employes average 38.8 per cent more than is required by the NRA code for grocers.

NRA Check-Up Under Way in Redwood City

Student Teams Making Survey; Blue Star Next Step

Every business and residential place in Redwood City is being visited by 12 high school boys in a complete community check up in connection with NRA.

Most of Wednesday was spent by the six teams of two boys each in the business district. They took the name and address of all business places displaying the blue eagle and those which have not secured the eagle as yet. Practically all business houses now have the blue eagle.

Most professional men of the community did not think that it applied to their lines and few of them have secured the eagle as yet. It is believed by Postmaster Carl Mabie and the local NRA committee that professional men should also sign the president's pledge and secure the eagle so as to make the business district 100 per cent complete in this regard.

Donald Bogie, vice principal, is in direct charge of the work of the boys, while City Manager E. A. Rolison and D. P. Washburn of the sub-committee from the executive committee have made arrangements for the campaign. About one-half of the teams completed their work in the business district at noon on Wednesday and began the activity among the consumers. They found people ready and eager to sign the consumers' cards and become active members of NRA.

Beginning about September 1, the "buy now" campaign will be presented throughout the West. The purpose of this will be to generate enough additional business to sustain the business houses which have put on increased help. When the present consumers' campaign is completed the next step will be a system of awarding one blue star to be placed on the blue eagle sign for each additional employe hired by any of the firms in Redwood City. The basic purpose of the entire NRA campaign is to increase employment and payrolls. The system of awarding blue stars will be a direct accounting to the public of the number of additional employes taken on by local business firms. In cases where the teams do not find citizens in their homes, the consumers' card is being left under the door. It is requested that either the husband or wife sign the card and drop it in any United States mail box. No postage is required. The householder can secure the NRA window sign by calling at the chamber of commerce office.

NRA campaign workers include:

Team 1—Charles Bendeich and John Diehl.

Team 2—Clifford Pinkham and Frank Goldthwaite.

Team 3—Richard Martin and Merton Crockett.

Team 4—Robert Svihus and William Ambrose.

Team 5—Roy Crothers and George Crothers.

Team 6—John Argo and Bill Dusel.

ADVISORY BOARD FAVORS BUILDING CO. CORP. YARD

Favoring immediate construction of a corporation yard, in which would be kept all automotive equipment belonging to the county, minutes of Tuesday afternoon's meeting of the board of supervisors' advisory commission were read to the board at Thursday's session. Four points were listed by the advisory group, as follows:

1. Additional automotive equipment is necessary to take care of the unemployment program.

2. A corporation yard will take care of all automotive equipment at a substantial saving.

3. Gas tax funds will be sufficient to take care of these items without an increase in the tax rate.

4. In the opinion of this commission, it is most unlikely that sufficient funds from this source will be available next year or in any future year to take care of the purchase of this additional equipment or the construction of a corporation yard.

In a note written below the listed points was the following: "Their inclusion in the budget at any other time would probably necessitate an increase in taxation."

Redwood City Favored

County Surveyor-Engineer James S. James already has announced his plans for the building of the centralized yard and has recommended that it be located in Redwood City, which is a key city to important road systems all through the county and would be in close touch with James' office.

The commission recommended that the appropriation of $50,000 for work relief be not allocated at this time. Due to the fact that county funds for relief may equal the figure now estimated by the committee for county relief, it may be necessary to use part if not all of this sum for the purchase of materials and for supervision, it was said.

The road budget presented by James was recommended for adoption.

James B. Howell of Atherton, president of the board of freeholders who drew up the county charter, was named permanent chairman of the board at the meeting. M. A. Harris, former Atherton mayor, was elected vice-chairman.

The supervisors were devoting their session yesterday largely to a discussion with Dr. Harold Morrisson, newly appointed director of public health and welfare, on Morrisson's budget.

Tentatively, they created a $3000 a year position of business manager of the Community Hospital. Dr. C. V. Thompson, board chairman, told the board that Mills Memorial Hospital in San Mateo has effected large yearly savings through this system. Nobody will be named for the post until the budget is finally accepted.

Approval was made of Dr. Morrisson's appointment of Mrs. Mary L. Sooy, 1606 El Camino Real, San Mateo, as his clerk.

40 BILLBOARDS IN CITY ENOUGH, COUNCIL RULES

The city council debated long and vigorously Monday on the question of billboards in Redwood City, with the result that the policy was established to permit no more than 40 advertising panels in town.

Trustee George McNulty's voice, on numerous occasions, was raised to a high pitch in opposition to any and all billboards, and his was the lone vote against the granting of permission to F. Morton, representative of Foster and Kleiser, to erect three billboards with eight panels.

In sanctioning the billboards, which would bring the total to 41 now in the city, the council requested City Manager E. A. Rolison and Building Inspector I. C. Drathman to inspect the sites, and to ascertain whether residents in the vicinity of the signboards objected to them. The sites are at El Camino Real, between Pine and Lathrop streets, on El Camino Real opposite Harrison avenue, and on the Bayshore boulevard, near Jefferson avenue.

At one time there were 60 panels in the city.

Asked by Councilman McNulty how many billboards other cities had, Morton replied that the number ranged from 16 to 148.

"How many has San Mateo?", asked the councilman.

"Seventeen."

"How many has Burlingame?"

"None."

"If Burlingame has none, I don't see why we have to have so many," said McNulty. "We're just easy, that's the trouble."

Morton said that Burlingame was chiefly residential, and that Foster & Kleiser did not put up billboards in residential areas. The three sites sought last night in Redwood City are in commercial zones, he said.

Councilmen Henry Beeger and Charles Lambert were apparently not too enthusiastic for billboards, but thought they were all right in some places.

Councilman Paul McCarthy was absent, but had left word that he was opposed to billboards, and would prefer that the maximum be set at 40.

Councilman Robert Jones moved to establish the policy of a maximum of 40, and the motion was seconded by Beeger. Since there are 33 panels in town now, and the eight sought last night by Morton would bring the total to 41, another problem arose. It was eventually settled when Morton agreed to withdraw one panel.

City Manager Rolison declared he was not "strong for signs," but would comply with the council's request to inspect the sites.

Jars Wanted By Red Cross for Relief Canning

An appeal to housewives of the district for canning jars was made this morning by Mrs. W. J. Dusel, chairman of the local Red Cross committee which is supervising fruit preserving work done by unemployed women.

"If women will be willing to give as few as two or three pints or quart-sized jars," Mrs. Dusel said, "we will be able to put up the balance of the fruit we have on hand.

"We have spent a good deal of money for jars thus far, and we do not believe we can use any more for this purpose."

People wishing to donate the jars may leave them at the Sequoia Union High School cafeteria, or inside either the Birch or Clinton street entrances, or call Mrs. Dusel at Redwood 526.

Seventy Motorists Arrested in Week-End

Over 70 motorists heard state traffic officers' sirens beckon them to halt on county highways during the week-end, it was announced Tuesday by Mrs. Hilda McGovern, clerk of the county traffic bureau here.

A majority of the arrests were made on Bayshore highway and were for varied offenses—cutting in, speeding, driving in the third lane, and failure to allow sufficient clearance when passing or meeting a vehicle.

A final decree of divorce has been granted by Judge Maxwell McNutt to Delia Pellegrini against Orlando Pellegrini.

Flood Re-Trial Date Confirmed For Nov. 15th

Judge W. F. James of the Santa Clara County Superior Court, sitting in the court of Judge Maxwell McNutt here this morning, confirmed the date of November 15 as the opening of the retrial in the famous Flood will case. The date had been set a week ago by County Clerk Elmore B. Hinman and was agreed to by attorneys on both sides.

Judge James also accepted from John J. Taaffe, chief counsel for Mrs. Constance May Gavin in her fight to get a daughter's share of the valuable estate left by the late James Flood, Menlo Park millionaire, a written request for a jury trial.

In a separate paper filed in the clerk's office this morning, Mrs. Gavin, through Taaffe, sought to legally establish the death of James E. Walsh, one of the executors of the Flood estate. Walsh died in San Francisco April 15, 1932. The other executor is Maud Lee Flood, the widow.

Consideration was given to ordinances regulating the keeping of rabbits and poultry and dgos and also regulating the sale of beer. No definite action, however, was taken on any of the three, although there was considerable discussion from the floor concerning the first two.

To Regulate Poultry

Proposed regulations governing poultry keeping were that no fowl should be kept nearer than 30 feet of any window or door of a residence, that more than 25 birds should not be kept closer than 50 feet to the doors or windows of any residence not occupied by their owner and that a 75-foot limit should be maintained It was also provided that the when there are more than 50 birds. coops must be kept in a clean, sanitary manner.

In the dog ordinance it is proposed that a kennel permit will be required for the keeping of more than two animals.

The beer ordinance will be discussed with the local merchants at a conference preceding the next council meeting to be held Tuesday evening, August 29.

$800,000 for Renovizing is Pledge Total

Approximately $800,000 in renovize pledges have been turned in to county headquarters in San Mateo, it was reported today.

Frank McVeigh, managing director, predicted that the county would reach its million dollar goal by the end of the week, and that, before the campaign ended, the total would be a million and a half or possibly two million dollars.

Redwood City's quota has been passed, and workers are going on to the $200,000 mark.

South San Francisco's $50,000 goal has been exceeded, and the pledges there to date total $155,000.

Hillsborough is also over the $150,000 mark.

San Mateo and Burlingame have not as yet made notable progress, but a "pep talk" was given last night to workers of those cities by C. C. Young, ex-governor, and chairman of the county executive committee. Henry Witte, chairman of the Redwood City committee, was another speaker.

Atherton reports 25 per cent of its $50,000 quota.

WOMAN KILLED, SON HURT IN CRASH ON BAYSHORE

Auto, Out of Gas, Struck By Truck Near R. C.; District Attorney Probes Driver's Hours

While a woman lay dead and her 8-year-old son was in Mills Memorial Hospital, San Mateo, suffering from a possible skull fracture and lacerations as the result of a Bayshore highway crash near here Tuesday, District Attorney Edmund Scott was seeking to find a way, if possible, to regulate hours worked by truck drivers on long-distance hauls.

Scott's attempted move was the outcome of a collision two miles south of here at 6 o'clock Tuesday when a truck driven by Gerald E. Boedeker, 24, crashed into the parked touring car belonging to James Lonergan, 49, of Palo Alto and San Bruno, killing his wife, Mrs. Anna A. Lonergan, and injuring the boy, Robert. The youth will recover.

Boedeker, a resident of Lindsay, was en route from San Francisco to Los Angeles with a truck belonging to the Lindsay Commercial Packing Company when the wreck occurred.

He told District Attorney Scott and Deputy Harold Anderson Wednesday that he saw the Lonergan car about one-quarter of a mile before he struck it and that he swung wide to pass it when an oncoming sedan in the third lane forced him over to the side of the road. Rather than risk a headon collision, Boedeker said he took a chance on sideswiping the parked car. His truck drove into the back of it, turned it over two times and knocked it 105 feet. Boedeker said that he was driving a new truck, which still was Further questioning by the district attorney revealed that the driver had taken a truck from Los Angeles to Sebastopol last Saturday night, returned to Los Angeles Sunday, left Monday for San Francisco and Tuesday night was completing his second round trip in four days.

It was this which riled Scott and brought from him this statement:

"There ought to be some way to get at those men who send out drivers like that. It's dynamite. Boedeker said that he wasn't so tired that he couldn't drive, but when he came up to the office this morning he was visibly nervous from lack of rest."

"He is a married man and has to support his wife. There ought ot be regulations placed on the hours a truck driver can work, or at least there should be substitutes on all such vehicles."

While Boedeker contended that he was forced into the Lonergan automobile, a witness, Harry White, 109 Staller court, Palo Alto, gave a signed statement to the district attorney's office which said that there was no machine near enough to the truck to force it off the road and into the touring car.

White, a passerby, was accompanied by Miss Betty Losse of Santa Clara. Other witnesses listed by State Traffic Officers Ed Trulson, Louis Rinkel and Otto Schramm were Mrs. Sarah Weston, Santa Clara; David L. Green, 1044 High street, Palo Alto, and Bernice Walters, San Francisco.

The officers' report said that the driver of the truck was confused and that the Lonergan car was improperly parked. According to Deputy District Attorney Anderson, the officers said that there was a 15-foot shoulder on the road at that spot, and that it easily would have been possible for Lonergan to push his car entirely off the road.

Mrs. Lonergan, with Robert and two other children, were seated in the car while the husband went to a gasoline station. The tank had run dry.

The Lonergan home is at 204 San Anselmo avenue, San Bruno, but for the past several weeks the family has been staying with the dead woman's sister on Louis road, Palo Alto.

The woman's death was attributed to shock, a possible head injury and loss of blood. An inquest will be held Tuesday at Layng & Tinney's.

Lonergan is employed in the state department of purchases in the San Francisco Ferry Building.

Rober Greenberg, manager of the trucking line, talked with District Attorney Scott Wednesday morning and said that he always has instructed his men to allow themselves plenty of rest.

Weary Truck Drivers Are To Be Tagged

Another ally was enlisted today in the fight being started by District Attorney Edmund Scott to rid San Mateo county highways of sleepy truck drivers, when Capt. Paul Perussina, of the state traffic bureau here, directed his men to maintain close watches for weary chauffeurs and arrest them on charges of reckless driving.

The campaign got under way yesterday when investigation by the district attorney and his staff revealed that Gerald E. Boedeker, driver of the Lindsay Commercial Packing Company truck which crashed into a parked automobile on Bayshore highway and killed Mrs. Anna Lonergan, had but five hours' sleep in two days while driving between Los Angeles and San Francisco and back.

Boedeker, it was learned this morning, left Los Angeles Monday night, slept two hours at Paso Robles, two more hours at Salinas, continued to his destination in San Francisco, stole another hour's rest in the seat of his truck and then started his return journey, the finish of his second round trip in four days.

"Up to Judges"

Placing magistrates of the county "on the spot," the district attorney said: "Until state legislation against this menace is put into effect, the judges are the only ones who can maintain a strict enforcement against drivers who work long hours daily.

"The police can arrest them and we can bring them up for trial, but unless the sentences are made severe it will be of little use to arrest these men."

Scott cited the case told him by Captain Perussina, who two weeks ago arrested a man for driving his truck 75 miles per hour on the Bayshore highway. Perussina said that it took the man 3100 feet to bring his heavily loaded conveyance to a stop and that he blew out two tires in doing so.

Bayshore highway is poorly lighted, Scott pointed out. He said that the judges would have to recognize that the darkness makes even a worse death trap out of the road.

Judge Appalled

Superior Judge Franklin Swart was appalled at the numerous recent deaths on the Bayshore. He did not comment on the severity of penalties.

Peninsula Plumbers Working on Code

The Peninsula Merchant Plumbers' Association, at a recent open meeting in San Jose, saw more than 50 per cent of the plumbing firms of Santa Clara and San Mateo counties represented to hear the reading of the proposed code of the National Master Plumbers' Association to conform with NRA regulations.

The National Association of Master Plumbers has the record of being the oldest trade association in the United States, having 51 years of uninterrupted activity to its credit. The association maintains its head offices in Washington, D. C., and is in direct contact with the administration of the National Industry Recovery Act.

A second open meeting is planned for the near future by the organization, with the date and place of the meeting to be announced later.

Wife Wins Child, Land in Divorce

Custody of a 10-year-old son, Rene, $20 a month for his support and title to real estate in San Bruno were awarded Mrs. Elise Bruchou in her divorce suit against Jean Baptiste Bruchou before Superior Judge Franklin Swart here today.

The husband filed a cross-complaint which was denied by the court. Mrs. Bruchou charged extreme cruelty.

EYES ON SUPERVISORS

The eyes of the taxpayers of San Mateo county are upon the supervisors hoping the rate may be materially reduced this year. Drastic measures must be used to keep down the mounting tax rate of the county. To do this some toes may be tread upon but the property holder demands a decrease in rates. The taxpayer should be the first consideration of the budget fixers, for he is the bone and sinew of the community, he is the one that provides the funds to conduct the county government.

The members are doing all that is humanly possible to cut costs and expenses and are aided by the committee of freeholders appointed to sit with the supervisors to work out a solution whereby the tax rate will be lowered materially. If this is accomplished the supervisors will have the commendation of every citizen of the county.

IT'LL BE A SCRAMBLE

From present indications there is to be a big scramble for the Republican nomination next year. James Rolph will no doubt be a candidate for re-election. Lieutenant-Governor Frank Merriam has already announced his candidacy, while ex-Governor C. C. Young is in a receptive mood and may make canvass. Southern California wants the governership and will put forth a big effort to secure it for that section. Should the Republicans of Los Angeles agree upon a candidate the south will have an excellent chance of winning. If several from that section get into the fight Governor Rolph will again carry off the prize. It is a little early to make any predictions, but one thing is certain and that is there is going to be a grand battle for the office. The Democrats, encouraged by the debacle of last year, are to bring forth a strong candidate from the southern part of the state with a high hope of winning.

James Hearne Home; Met Irish President

James Hearne, widely known local merchant, arrived home yesterday from a six weeks' trip to the scenes of his youth in Ireland. He spent some time at the home of his mother and two brothers, one of whom, John Hearne, is the legal adviser of President De Valera of the Free States. Frank Griffin accompanied Mr. Hearne to the old country. Both were entertained by De Valera who visited California some years ago. The president displayed a wonderful knowledge of this locality, describing San Mateo county most minutely. He had not forgotten the reception accorded him by Mayor Rolph years ago. He asked to be remembered to the genial governor. The Americans made a decided impression upon the president who autographed two pictures of himself, his wife and his assistant, John Hearne. The photographs are highly prized by their possessors.

Before leaving Ireland the tourists kissed the Blarney Stone, an event looked forward to by every good Irishman.

Hearne departed from Ireland taking a direct course home while Griffin left for Paris for a short tour. He is expected to arrive in Redwood City within a short time.

Two Women Receive Decrees of Divorce

Two women were granted final decrees of divorce in suits before Superior Judge Franklin Swart this week.

Mrs. Annetta Marenco was given her freedom from Joseppe Marenco and custody of her daughter, Yolanda. Judge Swart also allowed Mrs. Marenco $25 a month for support of the girl. The charge was extreme cruelty.

On another extreme cruelty charge, Mrs. Violet M. Schweers won an interlocutory decree from Carlos A. Schweers, who was in Hongkong, China, when last heard from. She was allowed to take her maiden name of Larkin.

Mrs. Claus Spreckels Succumbs in Paris

SAN MATEO, Aug. 25.—Mrs. Claus Spreckels of San Francisco died at her residence in Paris this week. She was 70.

Mrs. Spreckels was the former Miss Ory Dore of San Mateo. She is survived by two sisters and a nephew and a niece by marriage in San Mateo and Burlingame. Her sisters are Mrs. Ruby Bond and Mrs. Lavina Hoffacker. The nephew and niece are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bond. A third sister, Mrs. Paul Wooster, lives on Long Island.

'Patience' Will Be Light Opera Offering

Following several weeks of tryouts the cast for the old-time favorite "Patience," by Gilbert and Sullivan, has been selected by the San Mateo County Light Opera Association and general rehearsals are being held every Tuesday evening for the production which will be staged October 27 and 28 in the auditorium of the Burlingame High School.

Ethel Banks has been chosen for the title role and playing with her in the male lead will be her husband, Frederick Banks of Burlingame. Both "Fred and Ethel," as they are affectionately known by their many friends, have had professional experience before the footlights in London and have taken an active part in amateur productions on the peninsula.

Supporting them in the other roles are H. H. McKelvie as Colonel Calverly; Carl F. Ohliger as Major Murgatroyd; Jack Edenholm, Duke of Dunstable; Percy Hutchings, Archibald Grosvenor; Katherine Houston, Angela; Kathleen Appling, Saphir; Suvilla Hilmer, Ella and Betty Nowell, Lady Jane.

United Council Has Monthly Meeting

The San Mateo County United War Veterans' Council held its monthly meeting Friday in San Mateo American Legion Post headquarters, with President A. J. Dempsey presiding. The entire body went to the funeral parlor and attended the American Legion ceremony in honor of Comrade Felix Decker. The first order of business was to listen to a lengthy report on veteran's relief by William H. Augustus, treasurer of the council. A resolution was adopted, which will be sent to the supervisors, asking them to provide relief for the veterans who have been affected by the economy act and to appeal to the federal government for reimbursement.

The council went on record as favoring San Francisco bay area as the naval base and home port for the Pacific fleet.

The next meeting will be on September 15 and will be held in the hall of the Disabled American Veterans on "B" street, at 13th avenue, San Mateo. The council meets every third Friday.

A machine, resembling a giant typewriter four feet high, which is said to be able to do the work of 60 bank clerks with only one girl to handle it, is being tested in London.

At an impressive ceremony Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the public chapel of Corpus Christi Monastery Sister Florence will be invested with the white habit of her order. Sister Florence is a native of San Francisco and has been at the cloister for some time. The public is invited to attend the ceremony. Numerous friends of the nun are to be present from San Francisco.

The Chinese merchants of San Francisco, through Mrs. Cameron, have purchased a five-acre tract on Middle avenue, just outside the city limits, for an orphanage. Several large buildings are to be established on the land to care for 200 children. Those in charge of the orphanage have been trying to come here for some time. It is believed there will be opposition on the part of adjoining property owners to the enterprise.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Podany of Minneapolis are on a visit to their daughters residing in Menlo Park. Mr. Podany is a prominent merchant of the eastern city. He and his wife have made many trips to California.

Mrs. Kirby MacLean and her daughter, Miss Kathryn MacLean, have returned to their home on Hermosa Way, Menlo Park, after a year abroad. Miss MacLean attended the disarmament conference at Geneva and later served as secretary to the American consul at Lausanne. Then, after four months of study in Paris, she set out with her mother for a pleasure tour of Spain, Africa, Italy and the nearby islands, Austria, Germany, and England. From England Mrs. MacLean and her daughter crossed the Atlantic to New York.

The board of trustees of Congregation Beth Jacob and Jewish Center of Palo Alto and Menlo Park will hold dedication services Sunday, August 27, at 2 p. m. which will be open to the public. At 5:30 p. m. they will serve dinner and anyone desiring to attend is asked to make reservations.

Mayor and Mrs. W. H. Weeden will take their grandchildren, Billy and Emma Roberta Lindquist to St. Helena with them this weekend. The mayor recently built a group of modern hot-houses for Mrs. Charles Lansdale near St. Helena. Mrs. Lansdale, a Russian princess, is a successful amateur florist, and she takes keen interest in her flowers and spends much of her time assisting in their culture.

Grand Organist Clara Guerrard of the N. D. G. W. is also publicity chairman for Santa Cruz, Monterey, Santa Clara and San Mateo parlors of the Native Daughters of the Golden West. She is arranging a series of radio broadcasts over KQW in San Jose. The first program will be on September 4 at 10 p. m. Grand President Irma Laird will make a speech, and Mrs. Guerrard will play some selections on the piano. Isabelle Weeden Lindquist will sing a group of songs. It will mean a great deal to the Native Daughters of the Golden West if these programs meet with the approval of the radio public, and it is hoped that the local fans will listen in and send favorable comments to Grand Organist Guerrard at station KQW.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit, No. 443, will hold public installation of officers on Tuesday, August 29 at 8 p. m. Many distinguished guests will be present and it is hoped the department president, Lorena Good, will be able to attend. Florence Chess, district president, will be installing officer, and Mary Winter of Redwood City will be her sergeant-at-arms.

Members of the auxiliary attended the funeral of Fred Nessler in a body. Mr. Nessler's daughter, Mrs. Clara Murray of Fairbanks, Alaska, is a member of the local unit. Isabelle Weeden Lindquist, secretary of Menlo Park auxiliary sang two solos during the funeral services.

Miss Beatrice Morton Bruce, 49, formerly of Menlo Park, died at St. Joseph's Hospital in San Francisco Wednesday night. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Bruce, and sister of Mrs. Dorothy Fredericks of Menlo Park.

On the mark! Get set! Go!

Tomorrow will be the start of the "Know Your Star's Voice" contest, sponsored by the Sequoia Theatre and the Daily Tribune.

You'll "see" and hear the voices of the first six Paramount mystery stars. By listening to their voices and simply seeing their backs or the rear of their heads will you be able to name them correctly and write the vital 25-word description of each?

Remember, there are prizes galore. To help you brush up on the legion of stars and players who are under contract to Paramount Pictures, the "Know Your Star's Voice" contest judges have persuaded us to publish the full list of their names.

Here they are: Walter Abel, Brian Aherne, Judith Allen, Adrienne Ames, Lona Andre, Richard Arlen, George Barbier, Richard Bennett, Mary Boland, Grace Bradley, Clive Brook, Kathleen Burke, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Maurice Chevalier, Claudette Colbert, Gary Cooper, Ricardo Cortez, Buster Crabbe, Bing Crosby, Marlene Dietrich, Patricia Farley, W. C. Fields, Frances Fuller, Wynne Gibson, Cary Grant, Shirley Grey, William Harrigan, Verna Hillie, Miriam Hopkins, Roscoe Karns, Jack Le Rue, Charles Laughton, Baby Le Roy, Carole Lombard, Barton MacLane, Fredric March, Herbert Marshall, Four Marx Brothers, Jack Oakie, Gail Patrick, George Raft, Lyda Roberti, Charlie Ruggles, Randolph Scott, Sylvia Sidney, Alison Skipworth, Sir Guy Standing, Kent Taylor, Jerry Tucker, Mae West, Helen Twelvetrees, Dorothea Wieck, Toby Wing, Elizabeth Young.

Renovize Plan Praised By Rep. M'Grath

"The renovize San Mateo county campaign is probably the most opportune project the civic leaders of San Mateo county could undertake at this time," declared Congressman John J. McGrath today. He has but recently returned from Washington.

"The campaign, as I understand it, seeks to mobilize property owners for a mass expenditure of over one million dollars, so that the owners may secure the advantages of present low costs, property values will be maintained, unemployment relieved and a united effort made to swing the economic pendulum back to better times.

"Such an undertaking is a necessary complement to the national recovery administration, and is directly in line with the president's whole recovery program," said McGrath. "Concentrated support by the consuming public will enable the merchants and business houses who have so patriotically adopted the shorter hours and higher standards set by the NRA to continue this policy with success.

"While I was in the national capitol a similar campaign to secure five million dollars in renovize pledges was being carried on in the District of Columbia under the guidance of the Washington Board of Trade. An interesting feature of the Washington renovize campaign was an actual demonstration of the complete renovizing of an old, dilapidated house in front of the department of commerce building.

"Washington, like Philadelphia and other cities, I am informed, made a complete success of their renovize campaign and is reaping tremendous economic benefits as a result. San Mateo county can do the same.

"The sponsors and workers in this patriotic drive deserve high praise and support of every public spirited citizen," declared the congressman.

Corpse in Butano Still Unidentified

Sheriff Arthur Dresser of Santa Cruz county today was attempting to identify the body of a man who was found hanging from a tree in Butano Forest, near the San Mateo county line, Sunday afternoon. The body lies in a Santa Cruz morgue.

The body was discovered by Thomas Hunt, Boulder Creek sportsman, while on a deer hunt. Hunt got in touch with rangers and they phoned Deputy Coroner John Layng in Redwood City.

Except for a Pickwick Stages ticket from Salinas to Gilroy, dated August 1, 1932, there were no marks of identification. The man evidently removed all his clothing, put on his overcoat and hanged himself, preliminary investigation revealed, according to a telephone report from Santa Cruz to the office of Sheriff James McGrath here.

Near the scene were a grey suit, blue shirt, blue tie and a pair of low-cut shoes. The man had gold teeth in the upper set and four gold crowns in the lower. It was estimated that he had been hanging on the small cord for between eight months and a year.

CITY'S RENOVIZE QUOTA BEATEN; NO LOCAL LET-UP

Redwood City has exceeded its renovize quota by a substantial margin, but is by no means ready to quit.

This was the statement made today by Henry Witte, chairman of the local renovize committee, who said that $156,831 in pledges had been obtained by his assistants. The local quota was $150,000.

The house to house campaign will continue, until the $200,000 mark is attained, Witte announced.

Meanwhile, the county-wide renovize campaign to renovate and modernize home and business property was producing excellent results.

In Salada Beach, the $10,000 goal was beaten by $829.

In Woodside, the $50,000 quota was passed. Pledges in the rural community amounted to $52,660.

County renovize headquarters in San Mateo, through Frank McVeigh, director, reported today that the county total thus far is $661,601.10, about two-thirds of the million dollar goal.

Burlingame and San Mateo are running neck and neck. The former city has reached 28 per cent of its quota, while the latter has 27½ per cent.

In Ravenswood, where the quota is $20,000, workers have secured 37 per cent of it. Good progress is being made in the lower section of the county.

Stanley Kelly New Burlingame Judge

BURLINGAME, Aug. 25.—Stanley Kelly, Burlingame real estate man who has been named by the city council to succeed Municipal Judge Joseph V. Gaffey, resigned, will assume his new duties on September 1, his eighteenth wedding anniversary.

The coincidence became known after he had been appointed. He has been a resident of this city since 1912, is a graduate of St. Ignatius College(now called University of San Francisco) and in 1910 was assistant manager of the William J. Burns detective agency in San Francisco.

The new magistrate is a brother of James R. Kelly, chief deputy district United States attorney in San Francisco.

Judge Gaffey resigned to become Burlingame postmaster.

OAKLAND PAIR WEDS

BURLINGAME, Aug. 25—Acting Police Judge James Murphy performed his second marriage rite Saturday when he wedded Simon Tow, 33, and Natalie Morris, 21, both of Oakland.

Patrol's Presence At Strike Protested

A resolution demanding that San Mateo county traffic officers be kept away from the agriculture strike areas in other counties was received at the local bureau this morning from the Peninsula Workers' Unit No. 1 of Menlo Park.

The statement was sent to E. Raymond Cato, chief of the state highway patrol, the local bureau, and the press.

It was explained by Mrs. Hilda McGovern, bureau clerk, that the patrolman were ordered into the strike area by Cato and that Cato said they were merely to keep traffic orderly in the district. Cato issued directions that they were not to interfere with the strikers.

The demand was signed by Lester F. Peterson.

The county claims system, which was actually inaugurated Monday afternoon when the July bills were presented for approval, was formally adopted Tuesday.

Under the new plan, the totals for each department in the county are presented, accompanied by a list which contains the claim number, the person to whom the money is to be paid, and the amount.

Supervisors Rosalie Brown and John Poole objected to passing the bills Monday when only the total amounts were presented.

Mrs. L. Daring, 52, 650 Natoma street, San Francisco, suffered slight injuries late Tuesday afternoon when her automobile, in which she was a passenger, overturned and went into the salt ponds adjoining Bayshore highway, south of San Mateo.

The driver, whose name was not disclosed to State Traffic Patrolman John Hanlon, left the scene before the officer arrived. Also in the car was Al Vogl of 84 Ramgold street, San Francisco, who was unhurt.

George Lopez, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Manuel Lopez, 537 Middlefield road, this city, passed away Saturday afternoon at the Lane Hospital in San Francisco. Besides his parents he is survived by two brothers, Ricardo and J. Manuel Lopez Jr.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Layng and Tinney Funeral Home. Interment took place at Union Cemetery, Redwood City.

A baby will breathe more easily and take more air into its lungs if no pillow is used to sleep on.

Traffic Officer's Day Off Forgotten

There is the forgotten man—and then there is the man who forgot.

State Traffic Officer John Hanlon of South San Francisco reported for regular duty at the local bureau Wednesday morning.

'Howdy," he greeted Mrs. Hilda McGovern, the bureau clerk.

'What are you doing here?" she asked, rather surprised to se him.

It developed that it was Hanlon's day off, and that he turned down a trip to the Russian river Tuesday because he thought he had to work the next day. He became confused in his dates because the officers are given two days off every other week.

JUNK WANTED BY LOCAL JOB RELIEF COMMITTEE

Have you any junk around your home—old papers, magazines, rags, bottles, old metal, anything in the way of second-hand articles that can be resold and converted into cash?

The local unemployment relief committee, under the direction of Z. T. Thorning, will conduct a junk collection campaign, similar to that carried on with considerable success in San Mateo and Burlingame this year. Headquarters will be in the old Tribune office in the Masonic Temple building on Main street, which will, beginning next week, become the new office of the Redwood City agency of the San Mateo County Emergency Relief Administration.

All of the money derived from the sale of the articles collected will go to local unemployment relief. In San Mateo and Burlingame the profit on the sale of articles from the junk selling campaign is said to have been close to $1500 since the first of January.

The territory to be covered in the local campaign includes Redwood City, Emerald Lake, Dumbarton Oaks, Fair Oaks, Atherton, Menlo Park, Ravenswood, Runnymede, Woodside and Portola. A truck has been secured by the committee and collections will be made in any part of the district. All that is necessary for the housewife or homeowner to do is to telephone the relief headquarters, Redwood 1559, and the truck will call at the house.

Final rites were held in Oakland Monday noon for Mrs. Ida Ella Smith, wife of the late Sterling W. Smith and a sister of Mrs. Franc Smith of San Carlos, who passed away in San Leandro Friday at the age of 78.

Mrs. Smith leaves eight children. They are Mrs. David Davis, A. Wallace Smith, Leslie Smith and Gaylord Smith, all of Oakland; Loyal Smith of Berkeley, and Eva, Harriette and Harold Smith of San Leandro.

Suit Filed to Get Money Won in Case

F. E. Barr today brought suit against William Charles Bider, known also as William Charles, to collect $2265 which Barr says is owed him on a $1900 suit in which judgment was rendered in his favor on August 22, 1928. The difference of $565 is for interest which has accumulated since the money was due, Barr said.

The first railway locomotives weighed only four or five tons.

LITTLE THEATRE GROUP COMMENDED BY COUNCIL

Redwood City's little theatre group, the El Camino Players, made a "personal appearance" of a different kind Monday when a number of them turned out to attend the city council meeting in the firehouse auditorium.

The purpose of the delegation was to support the request of their leader, Mrs. Bess Balcomb, for permission to remodel the big barn on Middlefield road and make it a place suitable for a studio and play rehearsals. What is now the harness room will be converted into a studio and work room.

Permission has been secured from the owner of the property, H. L. Williams, of 401 Heller street, who was present last night and who praised the little theatre movement. He has recently had the barn renovated, and is offering it rent free for a time.

The El Camino Players have produced "Expressing Willie" and other noteworthy plays. There are 42 members of the organization.

Council members praised the enterprise of the Players, and said they should be encouraged. Permission to do the remodeling under the direction of Building Inspector I. C. Drathman was granted, with the understanding that the barn would not be used as a public playhouse—in which case it would be subject to state law and different building regulations.

Other Matters Up

H. C. King, representing the Redwood City Sportsmen's Club, said the organization was in arrears on its rent for the clubhouse at the yacht harbor, and offered to meet its obligations by giving to the city some of its equipment, including chairs, a stove, coffee boiler, spoons and dishes.

King also asked that the club be relieved of its monthly rental and subject to charge only for nights on which the clubhouse is used.

The council expressed a willingness to cooperate and said it would look into the matter.

On motion of Councilman George McNulty, and second of Henry Beeger, the council employed C. G. Uhlenberg of Redwood City to audit the municipal records for the coming fiscal year.

In naming Uhlenberg, the council praised the work of C. E. Piatt, San Mateo, who has been the auditor, but decided that a local man should have the preference.

League to Meet

Council members will attend a meeting at the Masonic temple in Burlingame Friday night at 6:30, when the Peninsula League of Municipalities will meet. Mayor C. A. Buck of Burlingame is president and H. A. Mason, secretary.

Subjects to be discussed then include these: sewage disposal; getting the state to take over the transbay bridge, urging the Southern Pacific to provide an uptown terminal for peninsula traffic; port development; public works projects and the annual convention of the state league.

SCHOOL AT NIGHT 28TH

Adult Classes Will Be Resumed At Sequoia

Registration for attendance at Sequoia evening high school begins Monday, August 28th. Classes are held Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Students may register any of these evenings. The registration fee is $1.00.

According to Charles S. Brown, principal of the night school, it has been organized to give the adult members of its community opportunities for educational development and recreation.

"Our present civilization is changing," said Brown. "Past education can not fit into new and future civilization. The youth of today finds on leaving school that the world is changing so rapidly that he must continue his education to keep up with the times. It follows, that adults whose education has been conpleted in the past must make even greater adjustments.

"It can be said then, the principal aim of adult education is to aid society in making these far reaching adjustments that are today so urgently needed.

"A second aim of the evening high school is to provide adults with the opportunity of securing a high school education. High school credit can be earned by students completing the required work in any subject and on the completion of 16 units of credit regular diplomas of graduation will be granted. If you lack just a few units of graduation, here is your chance to make up those credits."

$200,000 Deal Sees Tanforan Change Hands

Holdings of the Pacific Coast Jockey Club, operators of Tanforan race track at San Bruno since its reopening several years ago, became the property of the Tanforan Company, Limited, when the jockey club filed a deed to the Tanforan Company in the office of County Recorder T. C. Rice here Tuesday.

The document bore $203 in official stamps, indicating that the transaction involved approximately $203,000. Signatures on the deed were those of A. de Bretteville, vice-president, and Everett S. Layman, secretary, both for the jockey club. It was filed by the San Mateo County Title Company.

Approximately 110 acres are included in the property.

Today's transaction terminated an agreement in a contract of sale filed a year ago, when the Tanforan Company first agreed to buy the property.

Club Investigating R. C. Sign Proposal

Members of the Redwood City Lions Club have been conferring with City Manager E. A. Rolison in regard to erecting a neon sign at the Main street entrance to Redwood City from the Bayshore highway. They declare that motorists desiring to come to Redwood City in many instances drive by the city without knowing where to turn and eventually end up in Palo Alto.

A plan whereby a sign could be secured has been worked out by the committee representing the Lions Club and the city manager.

The committee of Lions handling plans for the project is composed of George McQueen, Perry Bygdnes and Dr. D. F. Brown.

Deer Dogs Shot; James Rolph III Sued By Owners

James Rolph III, son of the governor of California, today was named co-defendant in a damage suit filed by John Skrabo of Portola and Madeo Mangini of Woodside because a caretaker on the younger Rolph's Alpine ranch allegedly shot two hunting dogs belonging to the men.

According to papers filed today by Larrouy and Macdonald, lawyers representing the plaintiffs, Skrabo and Mangini were hunting in Santa Clara county August 15 on a ranch known as the "Tea Gardens." Each man had a dog with him.

The hounds scared up two deer and chased them for two miles before entering the "unenclosed and unfenced premises of the Alpine ranch," the complaint says, where John Fullerton, a caretaker employed by Rolph at the ranch, shot both dogs, killing Skrabo's and rendering Mangini's unfit for hunting.

Each man asks $250 for loss of his hound, $1000 for damages termed "willful and malicious," and Mangini in addition requests $15 special damages. Fullerton is the other defendant in the case.
